Will You Be Strong Enough to Refuse a Chip in Your Arm?

By Glenn Meder

Imagine this scenario . . .

The year is 2028. Your life is harder. Everything is getting more expensive. No matter how many hours you work, you can't seem to get ahead of your expenses. Your nutrition has suffered because food shortages have caused food prices to skyrocket. Your business—if you still own one—is struggling. It's hard to find a job. Everything seems to be more complicated than just a decade ago.

But the government has a solution . . .

If you agree to get a “FedNow” chip implanted in your arm, you will receive $2,000 each month for free!

Pretty fantastic, right?

But wait, there's more . . .

- The chip will be a built-in credit card and identity card that will allow you to shop at stores, open locked shoplifting-proof cabinets and pay with ease.
- It'll also be your online ID. You'll be able to shop online anywhere, and the experience will be speedy and seamless.
- It will allow you to bypass the lines at movies, airports, sporting events and amusement parks.
- Companies will reward you with significant benefits for having a “proven identity.”
- It will monitor all aspects of your health and will call an ambulance if you are having a heart attack.

Sounds great, right? So, would you get a FedNow chip?

You want to say no, right? Because you know there will be significant strings attached.

But can you turn down $2,000/month?

FROM THE EDITOR

I have traveled extensively across the globe. During these adventures, I've met wonderful people in every country.

I've seen absolutely beautiful countries, such as New Zealand, Germany and Ecuador. And I've enjoyed the amazing cultures of China, Hungary and Japan.

But the USA has something special that makes it the greatest country on this planet. No, this is not said out of arrogance.

America is still the beacon of freedom. It is the light of the world, and it offers people the greatest opportunity to create the life they choose.

America has a secret sauce. Let's explore the question, "What is this secret sauce that makes the USA the greatest country?"

Is America the greatest country because of the American people? Not exactly. Most people around the planet are good, family-loving men and women.

Is the USA great because of our natural resources? No. There are plenty of countries that are resource-rich, but they are poor, pathetic countries.

Is it because of our military might? No. America is not great because of our military might.

Is it our wealth and prosperity? No. We are not great because of our wealth and prosperity. Rather, we are wealthy and prosperous because of our secret sauce.

Is it because of our government? Certainly not. The American government is dangerous, corrupt, bloated and full of power-hungry psychopaths.

America is the greatest country in the world for three reasons . . .

First, We the People value individual freedom over collectivism. This is the cornerstone of our success and prosperity.

The Center for Individualism describes the difference between individualism and collectivism this way:

"Individualism is captured in the idea of America: a nation of individuals, each endowed with economic freedom, self-reliant in applying their own energy and creativity to advance their own circumstances and, in collaboration with others, contributing to an expanding economy, a stronger society, and growing well-being for all."

On the other hand,

". . . collectivism says that each individual must be made to serve the interests of society as a whole, regardless of his or her own desires, values, or ambitions. According to collectivism, your life doesn't belong to you. If the way that you want to live your life doesn't conform with someone else's idea of the "common good," then you must be forced into submission."

Second, we have a fantastic Constitution that protects our freedoms by limiting the power of the government. Our Constitution is a line in the sand that tells power-seekers that our rights are not negotiable. But our Constitution protects us only if we, in turn, cherish and protect the Constitution.

Third, and most importantly, Americans believe that our rights come from God and not from the government, which means that the government does not have the authority to take our rights away.

We the People own this country, and our political representatives are our servants, not our masters. We choose to be in charge of our own lives, to freely speak our minds, to worship as we choose, to raise our children with our values and to defend ourselves and our families.

These are our fundamental beliefs at The Liberty Zeppelin. If you agree with these core beliefs, please support us financially, share this newsletter and advertise with us!

Thank you, and welcome to our tribe!

Glenn Meder

WISDOM TO PONDER.

“Freedom is not a gift bestowed upon us by other men, but a right that belongs to us by the laws of God and nature.”

Benjamin Franklin

“The policy of American government is to leave its citizens free, neither restraining them nor aiding them in their pursuits.”

Thomas Jefferson

“It is the duty of the patriot to protect his country from its government.”

Thomas Paine

“How strangely will the Tools of a Tyrant pervert the plain Meaning of Words!”

Samuel Adams

“If liberty means anything at all, it means the right to tell people what they do not want to hear.”

George Orwell

“Educate and inform the whole mass of the people... They are the only sure reliance for the preservation of our liberty.”

Thomas Jefferson

“Free people, remember this maxim: we may acquire liberty, but it is never recovered if it is once lost.”

Jean-Jacques Rousseau

Are Your Kids Being Brainwashed?

Parents like you struggle to find educational material that doesn't lie about our nation's history or teach that the government is the solution to our problems.

You want to help your children learn about true history, sound money, personal freedom, responsibility, entrepreneurship, individual rights, and more.

Refusing it won't be easy (they will make sure of that).

FIRST, they will offer a significant bribe. I would call $2,000/month (plus the other benefits) a significant bribe, wouldn't you?

SECOND, besides luring you with a carrot, they will subject you to a stick—and some serious propaganda. Thus, not only will the chip make your life easier (the carrot), but without the chip your normal life will continue to get harder (the stick). Plus, FedNow chip promos will be in your face 24/7.

Yes, the propaganda machine will be in full gear to incentivize you to get chipped. (If you think it was hard to avoid the COVID jab, you haven't seen anything yet).

For the first few years, you will hear nothing but positive reasons to be chipped.

Celebrities will flood social media promoting exclusive events that are only available to the chipped.

News pundits will talk about the chip as if it's totally normal, making anyone who doesn't get chipped look like a conspiracy kook.

Late-night talk show hosts will do skits about the chip and jokes about the unchipped conspiracy nuts.

And countless influencers will rave about how easy life is with a chip.

THIRD, the division between "sides" will only worsen.

Just as we saw a serious social divide develop between the vaccinated and the unvaccinated during COVID, we'll also see a real divide between the chipped and non-chipped.

- The chipped will be able to just walk out of grocery stores with their purchases without standing in lines, while the non-chipped will have to stand in long lines waiting for service from too few employees.
- Fast-food drive-through windows will be reserved for the chipped.
- The chipped will be able to order movie theater seats on their app with a simple click of a button, and they'll be allowed to skip the lines and head straight for their seats, while the unchipped will have to wait in line and accept the leftover seats.
- The chipped will get faster internet speeds.
- The chipped will get discounts on all services, from dental care to haircuts.
- Many devices will be designed to be used only with the chip.

FOURTH, vilification of the unchipped will intensify.

They will say that the unchipped are making life more difficult for everyone, that it's too expensive to maintain two systems (chipped and not chipped), and that the unchipped, whose vaccine status can't be tracked, are inherently a health risk to everyone.

In short, the unchipped will be vilified, just as the unjabbed were vilified during COVID.

Will you be strong enough to refuse the chip?

Before you answer, you might want to hear both sides of the story.

Let's explore the question, "Why wouldn't I want the chip?"

As with all government solutions, there will be a catch. A very serious catch. It can be summed up in one word:

ENSLAVEMENT.

I am not joking. I am not exaggerating. This is about literal enslavement.

How will they use the chip to enslave you? And why do they want everyone to have it?

The chip will . . .

- Be a tracking system that you won't be able to opt out of. It will communicate with your phone, your car, smart devices and sensors located everywhere around your city, and thus will know exactly who you are and where you are at all times.
- Be your digital ID, allowing them to centrally monitor ALL your data.
- Record ALL your activities—everything you say, write, buy, do. Every person you talk with online or offline (even in your home) and correspond with via email will be monitored and recorded.
- Be your bank account, credit card and payment system. The government and Federal Reserve will know every FedBuck (the replacement for dollars) you own, everything you buy, everyone you pay. They will know if you purchased a product from an ESG-approved company and whether you tried to donate to a freedom-related cause.

- Monitor many aspects of your health, including your pulse, heart rate, hormone levels, emotions, vaccination status and more. This health data will be transmitted to your centralized ID in real time and will be stored with all your other medical files.
- Be tied to your internet access and your online digital ID, so they will be able to track everything you do online without fail, and no VPN or other program or device will allow you to hide from their all-seeing eye.
- Track your carbon usage each month to determine whether you've used more than your designated allotment of CO2.
- Track the social media comments you post. You'd better not be caught denigrating drag show queens for grooming young children or criticizing government school boards for indoctrinating students.

We're talking total and absolute tracking. You will not have a shred of privacy ever again. Nor will you be able to opt out of the system.

How will they use your data to enslave you?

Artificial intelligence will monitor your online and offline activity and then rate your activities against the activities that government bureaucrats and central bankers either want you to take or don't want you to take.

When you do approved activities, such as praising the new social credit system, using people's proper pronouns, supporting transgender rights or buying products from ESG-approved companies, your score will go up.

When you do prohibited activities, such as speaking out against the official narrative on COVID-19, climate change or Ukraine, or telling off school boards for allowing the teaching of critical race theory, your score will go down.

IF YOUR SCORE GOES UP, you will be rewarded with more money, you will receive a good interest rate on your FedBucks, and you will have access to executive clubs, unlimited travel, exclusive dating sites, and more. You will be made to feel like you have special status. Your life will be one of comfort and ease.

IF YOUR SCORE GOES DOWN, you will be penalized. You may receive fines for all manner of infractions. If you speak up against vaccines, protest election results or donate to freedom causes, you may find your name blacklisted, your FedBucks reduced, your accounts frozen and your access to the internet cut off. Maybe you won't be permitted to charge your electric car fully, or perhaps the range on your car will be throttled. Your travel on planes and trains could be restricted. You could be locked out of concerts. You could even lose access to restaurants.

But here's the key . . .

This system will be fully automated. It won't depend on any human intervention. It will be completely run by artificial intelligence. Penalties and rewards will be impersonally applied and immediately administered.

You will be trained by it as if you were in a Pavlov dog experiment.

Just as Google Maps can direct each car on the road to different destinations at the same time, this new social credit system will monitor each person's activities and dole out rewards and punishments accordingly. Every individual will be controlled in a way that hits them where it hurts most and forces them to comply.

This is technological slavery. This is the world that governments, bankers and psychopathic elites are trying to put in place right now.

It is not science fiction.

The scenario is not based on future tech.

The tech is already created.

The infrastructure is in place.

They just need to convince us to go along.

In the beginning you will see only the carrot. After the system is well established, they will start to trickle in the penalties. In ten or fifteen years, they will have total control.

Eventually, people will wake up to the nightmare that they have created for themselves by complying with this anti-freedom agenda. But it will be too late to exit the system.

At least that's the goal the perpetrators aim for.

Can we stop this reality from happening?

Yes, it is possible to stop this. In fact, I am optimistic. But it's not a given.

I believe there are seven steps to breaking out of the prison of tyranny.

Step One: Be aware. You must be aware of what is happening. This will be difficult, because they have become masters of distraction. Just think how quickly and effortlessly they moved the global attention from COVID to the Russia-Ukraine War and then to the climate emergency. To avoid their propaganda, stop watching and reading the mainstream media. Instead, get your news from alternative, independent journalists such as Ben Swann, Patrick Wood, Jordan Schachtel, James Corbett, Whitney Webb, Ryan Cristián and, of course, The Liberty Zeppelin.

Step Two: Stay calm. One of their primary tools is fear. When you are fearful, you literally can't think. This is why they want to create emergency after emergency. Detach yourself emotionally from the moment. Stay calm.

Step Three: Have the courage to speak up. Make no mistake, if we do not act on this information and stop the clampdown on our liberty NOW, humanity—including everyone you love—will be enslaved forever. We must stop this BEFORE it starts. It will be much harder, and maybe even impossible, AFTER the fact. As Mahatma Gandhi said, "Silence becomes cowardice when occasion demands speaking out the whole truth and acting accordingly."

Step Four: Remember that our rights come from God, not from the government. No one has the authority to take away our rights. We must scream this from the rooftops and educate every child to understand this truth.

Step Five: Cherish the Constitution. The US Constitution is the Supreme Law of the Land. The Founding Fathers knew that decentralization of power was key to retaining our liberty. We must absolutely protect freedom of speech, because without it they will be able to control the narrative with their propaganda. Lately we have seen an amazing assault on freedom of speech. We must NOT allow this to stand. Do not participate in censorship. Warn others of the dangers of censoring and being censored.

Step Six: Fight on the state and city levels. The US Constitution gives very limited powers to the federal government. All other powers are given to the states and the people themselves. We must demand that our state's governor and attorney general and legislators stand up to the federal government through a process called "nullification." This means that any state can override the US government when it is acting illegally.

Step Seven: Trust in God. Above all, remember that, for all the power that these power-seekers think they have, there is a higher power that is actually in charge of everything. Rest in God's arms, and follow the inspiration God gives you.

Know thyself in God.

Yes, we are in very dangerous times right now.

So, stand strong. Remain aware. Speak up.

Follow the inspiration that God gives you!

We will triumph in the end.

Ditch Google Chrome

by tuxsodo (tux.pizza)

When you want to search for something on the internet, do you say, "Bing it" or "Yahoo! it"? Of course not. You say "Google It," right? Google has become a verb in our language.

But Google is not a good company. Rather, Google is a creepy, data-hungry, people-manipulating, government-colluding monster. If you care about freedom and privacy, you should distance yourself from every one of Google's products.

Let's begin by looking at how Google started. Then we'll examine how it makes money by harvesting your data.

In 1995, Stanford University received a grant from DARPA, the CIA and the NSA to fund a coordinated effort to build a massive digital library. The goal of this grant? To track like-minded people across the internet and identify them from the digital fingerprints they left behind. Two of the computer scientists who worked on this project were Larry Page and Sergey Brin. Three years later, they co-founded Google.

It seemed harmless enough. Provide a search engine that gives the user a better user experience, while giving companies an extremely effective do-it-yourself advertising method to target potential clients with tremendous accuracy.

But these weren't simple ads. To target these ads specifically to you, Google needed to gather a lot of data about you. The more data they collected, the more precisely they could target you, which in turn increased your chances of clicking on the ad. The only way they could get companies to pay for ad space is if the ads were successful in getting clicks.

How did Google gather information about you? It started with the search engine. Every search you made and every subsequent click gave them more and more data.

But the ads themselves track you. How so?

Countless websites host Google ads, and each of these sites will load a third-party cookie onto your browser, which then follows you through the different sites you visit. Most sites use some Google product, whether it's Google Analytics, Google Fonts, AdSense, or YouTube. Each of these products can see the cookies on your browser. This allows Google to effectively track your online activities.

Today Google offers a myriad of products, including Gmail, Google Drive, Google Photos, Google Calendar, YouTube, Chrome, Android and many more. Each of these products is a Trojan horse, meaning they are specifically designed to spy on you. This is, in fact, their primary purpose. Google can see all your information, read all your emails, look at all your photos, and download all your files. They know where you are every second of the day, who you meet with, who you talk to and what you say. (Yes, the CIA got a great return on their investment.)

To be clear, Google's desire to give advertisers an extremely effective way to target you with ads is not the only reason Google is collecting your data. As the saying goes, "Information is power," and in that sense Google is the most powerful company to ever exist.

So what are some of the more nefarious ways Google uses the data it collects?

For one thing, the Google search engine doesn't just provide you with organic search results. It also shapes and controls these results. To what end? To control what people think. Google is a radically political and activist company, and it has the power to shape public opinion by the results that searches generate. A recent article in Real Clear Politics says, "It has long been feared that Google, which controls almost 90% of U.S. Internet search traffic, could sway an election by altering the search results it shows users. New data indicate that may be happening, as . . . Google search visibility for Breitbart first plunged in 2017, before falling to approximately zero in July 2019."

For another thing, YouTube, which is owned by Google, is one of the main tools of government censorship. This was on full display during COVID, when YouTube silenced doctors and scientists who spoke up against the accepted narrative. It suppressed discussion about the lab leak theory of COVID, the superior effectiveness of natural immunity, the effectiveness of Ivermectin and the ineffectiveness of face masks.

Also, consider that:

Google complies with 70% of all government requests, which was a staggering 192,000 in the second half of 2022 alone!

Google reserves the legal right to close your account for any reason, which means that all of your precious data can disappear instantly.

Google colludes with governments to limit our freedom.

So what can you do to avoid Google? Simple: Find private alternatives to Google's products.

DeGoogling yourself is the act of removing Google services from your life and replacing them with alternatives. The first (and arguably easiest) change you can make is your web browser, which is how you interact with the internet.

You are most likely using the Chrome browser right now. Yes, Chrome is made by Google, and yes, it is tracking and recording everything you do online.

So ditch the Chrome browser for a more private and secure browser. We recommend the Brave browser. It's fast and reliable, and it doesn't contain Google spyware. It also includes a built-in adblocker and has strong privacy settings.

To install the Brave browser on Windows or macOS, just go to brave.com and Click "Download Brave." Once it downloads, click on the installer to run it, and follow the instructions.

To install Brave on your iPhone, go to your App Store and search for "Brave." It will be titled “Brave Private Web Browser.” To install Brave on your Android phone, look for “Brave Private Browser + VPN.” Make sure the publisher is “Brave Software.”

Once you install the Brave browser, it will ask you if you want to make Brave your default browser, which you should do. If it doesn't ask you, open the “Settings,” then click “Make Default.”

Now, let's talk about your search engine. Your search engine is a tool that your browser uses to search the internet. Again, it is not wise to use Google.com for your search, because it spies on you.

The good news is that by using the Brave Browser, your default search engine should be Brave Search instead of Google. So by using the Brave browser you are getting rid of two methods that Google uses to spy on you. Brave Search is just as comprehensive as the Google search engine.

In future articles, we will discuss additional ways that you can DeGoogle yourself and exit the corporate/government spy machine.

Water that is free from toxins is fundamental to good health.

Our society uses over 100,000 chemicals. Today, toxins contaminate every aspect of our environment.

"But," you may say, "my local government assures me that our water is safe."

Your tap water may be legally "safe" to drink, but it still could contain harmful chemicals.

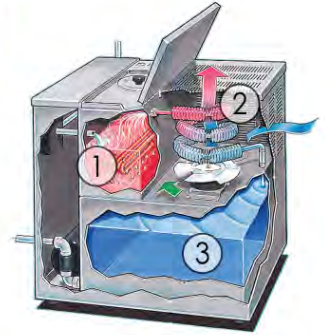

How can this be? Simple. The government uses the legal definition of the term "safe" drinking water, not the English language definition. Many toxins aren't regulated.

Distillation duplicates nature's water cycle to produce consistently pure water for decades. It's the single best method for removing contaminants from water.

Drink (and cook with) fresh, great-tasting, pure water for the rest of your life!

TRANSPARENCY AT THE LIBERTY ZEPPELIN

We have a duty to be transparent about our mission, our practices and the biases of our editorial staff. Here is our transparency report:

OUR MISSION: To serve and uplift humanity by celebrating our inherent, inalienable rights; to recognize the prosperous society that good, productive people have created by realizing those rights; and to peacefully stand up to the power-mongers who seek to strip us of our freedoms.

THE CORE BELIEFS OF OUR EDITORIAL STAFF ARE:

- The Liberty Zeppelin is neither Right nor Left, Conservative nor Liberal, Republican nor Democrat. Rather, we believe in freedom.
- Free people want to live and let live. We want to be left alone so we can live our lives in peace and raise our children as we see fit.
- You do not have the right to force others to believe as you do or speak as you want them to speak.
- A civil society protects children and protects a parent’s right to protect their children and to raise them with their values.
- Economic prosperity is the result of human action, not central planning.
- The primary cause of wars, conflict, slavery and oppression is people trying to impose their will on others.
- There is a reason that words are now being redefined. As Samuel Adams said, “How strangely will the Tools of a Tyrant pervert the plain Meaning of Words!”
- The ideals of liberty, self-reliance, equal justice, peace and property rights are the Soul of the USA.
- We the People are each inherently free, and our inalienable rights are endowed to us by our Creator. No government, organization, or corporation has the authority to infringe upon those rights.
- We the People own this country. Our political representatives are our servants, not our masters.
- Global public-private partnerships (G3Ps), comprised of central banks, governments, global corporations, think tanks, “philanthropists” and NGOs (e.g., the United Nations, the World Economic Forum, the World Health Organization), are colluding against the people of every nation to put powerful technological controls in place, such as digital IDs, Central Bank Digital Currencies and a social credit system. Their goal is to enslave humanity.
- These globalists use propaganda against us, radicalize our youth, crush freedom of speech, create division and chaos, cause immigrant invasions and more to crush the rule of law.
- The USA is NOT a democracy, it’s a Constitutional Republic. The US Constitution was designed to protect our individual freedoms by limiting the power of power-seekers, because power-seekers ALWAYS crave more power.
- Any law, edict, mandate, rule, regulation or code instituted by the federal government that exceeds the power granted to it by the Constitution is illegal. The states and the people have the authority and duty to nullify all attempts to subvert and cancel the Constitution.

- No foreign government or organization has authority over US citizens, nor may any treaty be signed that grants such authority.
- There is no exception clause in the US Constitution. It can never be paused, canceled or suspended, even during a declared national or global “state of emergency.”
- Our Constitution protects against mob rule (democracy). In a democracy, slavery could become law if the majority of people wanted it. Our Constitution protects minorities, and minority viewpoints from the majority.
- Our government is a corrupt, dangerous monster.
- Our government is NOT the USA. We are patriotic, but not to the government. Rather, we are loyal to the ideals that make America great, which are beautifully expressed in the Declaration of Independence and in our Constitution, which SEVERELY LIMITS the power of the federal government.
- Freedom of speech is the cornerstones of a free society. We must reject all acts of censorship.
- Freedom of speech means letting people speak, even if you don’t want to hear what they say. Words are NOT violence.
- News organizations are supposed to be the watchdogs for the people, but they have been corrupted and are now a propaganda arm of the government.
- We have the God-given right to defend ourselves.
- Just because past generations have allowed the federal government to encroach on our freedoms does NOT mean that we can’t take our freedoms back.
- To save freedom for future generations, we don’t need new laws, nor do we need a political savior. Rather, good people must peacefully stand up and criminally punish any public servant who undermines the Constitution, or attempts to pass or enforce illegal laws.

OUR EDITORIAL COMMITMENT.

- We commit to sharing the truth as we see it at all times and fulfilling our mission with the highest integrity.
- We will not permit advertisers to compromise editorial integrity.
- The difference between editorial content and marketing messages will be clear.
- We will not accept favors or gifts intended to influence editorial coverage.
- We will disclose any conflicts of interest, including personal relationships or financial interests that could influence editorial coverage.

ABOUT US: At The Liberty Zeppelin™, we love liberty and want to do our part to help restore integrity to our wonderful country. We’re not a big corporation, nor are we wealthy. We’re just regular people trying to do our part. Please support us.
